

Kazuyuki SUGAHARA

He received his Ph.D. (1976) from Kyoto University. 1976-1982: Research Associate, Departments of Pediatrics and Biochemistry, University of Chicago. 1982-1990: Instructor, Faculty of Pharmaceutical Sciences, Kyoto University. 1990.4-1994.3: Associate Professor and Full Professor, Kobe Women's College of Pharmacy. 1994.4-2006.3: Professor, Kobe Pharmaceutical University: 2006.4 – 2012.3: Professor, Hokkaido University Graduate School of Life Science, Sapporo. 2012.4-present: Specially Appointed Research Professor & Emeritus Professor, Hokkaido University. Editorial Board Member of The Journal of Biological Chemistry (2000.7-2005.6; 2011.7-present). Publications include over 195 original articles in peer reviewed international journals as well as over 25 review articles and book chapters. Honorary Doctor in Medicine from Uppsala University, Sweden (2002). His research interests: Structure, function and biosynthetic regulation of the functions of glycosaminoglycans (GAGs) and proteoglycans (PGs); Neuro-glycobiology; Tumor-glycobiology; Genetic diseases defective in the biosynthetic machineries of GAGs and PGs.